

Feywild Anchors

Providing a direct connection between the Faewild and the Material Plane, these portals are a jealously guarded secret among full blooded Elves. They are the only stable connection currently available for Elves to use to travel between the planes. It is not known, even by most elves, how many Anchors exist. One only is known to many, a Portal built within the walls of Harwood Citadel that provides strictly policed access to the Faewild Elven city of Thilath Edhil.
