

Suwarda

Suwarda is a territory sandwiched between Union and Valare.

After skirmishing over land claims, the two nations buried the notion and instead settled on joint custody of the land.

Suwarda is a series of valleys, flowing waters, thick forests, mountain ranges, and wetlands.

Lauded for its natural beauty, Suwarda makes a significant portion of its income from tourism.