Personal history

The Tunnel King built the community known as The Tunnel Kings. It is widely believed that His Majesty has actually been several people playing the role of The Tunnel King. Unfortunately no one has ever properly attempted to figure out the truth, or at least anyone that has has vanished under mysterious circumstances.

The Tunnel King built their small empire as a place to live for those who did not wish to partake in the lawful society of Kurleigh Castle. It is not a criminal empire, or so they say, but it is certainly a valued location for those who wish to do business unseen.

It is said, all gold flows through The Tunnel King. This image is visually enforced by the large mound of treasure The Tunnel King uses as a throne. Very little happens within and beneath Kurleigh Castle without The Tunnel King finding out about it. At least, that's what they say.
